at Broadway and Twenty-first street has a made a rapid jump into popular favor with the women shoppers.

The display of tailored suits, waists, jackets, separate skirts, golf skirts, embody all the intest designs and materials, cut in the artistic style for which this firm has been famous in the whole-sale trade for the past thrity-five years.

This week an unusual opportunity is offered in ladies' tailored suits, made up in the prevailing styles of fashionable gray homespuns, black and blue cheviliots and venetians. For women of small stature, sizes running from 32 to 36, exclusive styles are offered at phenomenally low figures.

All the departments of the store are now open to visitors to the city, as well now open to visitors to the city, as well as the shopping public, who will find them a fashion centre for exclusive garments and moderate prices.
